

Book by George Furth
Lyrics and Music by Stephen Sondheim

Directed by Jeffrey Kelly
Musical Direction by Carolyn Brady-Riley

This musical is known for its comic and sophisticated look at modern marriage as well as its great songs, including Another Hundred People, The Ladies Who Lunch and Being Alive. The central character, Robert, just turned 35, and has begun to seriously evaluate his bachelorhood. He debates the pros and cons of married life using evidence from his own less than ideal dating life and from the sometimes quirky nature of his friends' marriages. Which will Robert decide is best, to be married or single? Come to Company and see for yourself!
